COMMON DESTINY, COMMON FUTURE

Emerging geographical, economic, political and cultural distinctions in the world make it necessary for countries to form alliances and groupings. The fact that trade and industrial production reached global proportions brings about brand new partnerships without a need for geographical proximity and makes it impossible for states to exist in isolation from the rest of the world. In an age when opportunities as well as challenges are globalized, the way to find lasting solutions to our problems is through uniting around common values, strengthening solidarity and enhancing our cooperation. In our capacity as the current Chair of the Developing-8 Organization, we believe that a stronger cooperation and solidarity needs to be ensured in the face of the global challenges that affect the D-8 Countries (Bangladesh, Egypt, Indonesia, Iran, Malaysia, Nigeria, Pakistan and Turkey). In this vein, we wish that the D-8 Summit that we are going to host in İstanbul on 20 October 2017 would go a long way in terms of reinforcing the friendship, harmony and cooperation among the member states.

Stretching from Asia to the West Africa, D-8 is a global international organization in geographical and political terms rather than a regional one. Currently, many issues on the global agenda and many critical developments are unfolding within the hinterland of the D-8 countries. For instance, although the Southeast Asia, with its rich culture and history, is a region offering plenty of opportunities, it is witnessing unprecedented challenges as well. Likewise, the Middle East is also struggling with troubles ranging from ethnic divisions and destructive rivalry among states to sectarian conflicts that will take their toll on future generations. Many African countries are confronted with lingering problems such as hunger, economic backwardness, instability and terrorism. Rising Islamophobia and cultural racism in the western countries is no more a local problem but turning into a global phenomenon, threatening the safety and well-being of millions of our brothers.

D-8 – A Global Alternative

As member states of the D-8, we can address this state of affairs, which directly affects our political, economic and social stability, only through increased global solidarity and cooperation. Given the structure, purposes and targets of the organization, D-8 is a cooperation platform, which can assume critical roles in this process. Because, D-8 is not an alliance of states simply uniting around common interests, but more than that, an embodiment of the demand for a fair, peaceful and stable world. D-8 was born first and foremost out of an objection, a reaction from below against the current status quo that favours only certain countries. D-8 is also an important proposition and a strong thesis against the established order that systematize injustice, unfairness and unlawfulness.

D-8 has made significant achievements in its 20 years which is a relatively short period of time in terms of the lifespan of international organizations. We have cooperation mechanisms in various sectors such as trade, agriculture, industry, tourism, energy and transportation. Turkey coordinates cooperation efforts in the areas of health and environment; Bangladesh coordinates rural development issues; Indonesia coordinates cooperation in the field of human resources and the fight against poverty; Iran coordinates cooperation in science and technology; Malaysia coordinates finance, banking and privatization efforts; Egypt coordinates cooperation in trade; Nigeria coordinates cooperation in energy; whereas Pakistan coordinates cooperation in agriculture and fisheries.

As members, we need to develop “smart cooperation mechanisms”. We need to carry our economic and commercial relations to new areas by deepening our cooperation. Regarding the simplification of trade, we attach importance to the signing and coming into force of Visa Facilitation, Customs and Preferential Trade Agreements. We believe that these steps will eliminate many obstacles and help us increase our trade. If we can ensure the adoption and execution of these agreements by all member states, internal trade volume of D-8 will reach to 200 billion USD. Dynamism of our populations, competence of our businesspeople and richness of our natural resources will be our main advantages in attaining this aim.

We can never embrace a development model that pollutes the environment, carelessly consumes the natural resources, makes use of war, conflict and massacres as legitimate means for profit. With this understanding in mind, we should give priority to areas such as energy, agriculture, health, education and food safety. We should develop trade between the producers and consumers of energy within D-8 and work to realize joint energy investments in order to meet increasing demand for energy. By embracing the proverb “Unity breeds power”, we should widen our cooperation and share experience and technology. Only in this way can we upgrade “Developing-8” to the status of “Developed-8”.

Our achievements in the framework of D-8 will also highly contribute to the UN’s Sustainable Development Targets. Climate change and drought, desertification, malnutrition, water shortage and loss of biological diversity are main problems that affect all of us. Let’s not forget that we need to safeguard nature for future generations. Leaving behind a healthy and habitable world to our children is our moral, religious and humanitarian duty.

Preparing for the Future

With a young and dynamic population of more than one billion, a trade volume of over $ 100 billion per year and an average annual growth rate of 6 percent, the D-8 today is one of the organizations with the strongest potential. Celebrating its 20th year this year, the D-8 has made a considerable progress despite many hardships it has encountered. Over the 20 years since its establishment, the world has undergone a significant transformation in technological, political and social areas. However, the need for the values and the messages represented by the six stars on the flag of D-8 has never diminished. In this process, D-8 should position itself according to the conditions and requirements of the future by capturing the zeitgeist. Personally, I think that the way to achieve this is through acting with the understanding of “common destiny, common future”.

I believe that the İstanbul Summit, at which we celebrate the 20th anniversary of the D-8, will take stock of the past and draw up a road map for the future. I hope that this historic summit will produce positive outcomes for the common good of all the D-8 countries and the Islamic world.

While paying tribute to the memory of the late Prime Minister Dr. Necmeddin Erbakan, may Allah bless his soul, who pioneered the establishment of the D-8, I would like to express my appreciations to all who are involved in making the D-8 what it is today on behalf of my country, my nation and the Organization.
20 Years of Unique Experiment in Economic Cooperation

Article By Dr. Seyed AliMohammad Mousavi, D-8 Secretary-General on the 20th anniversary of D-8

Twenty years ago, precisely on 15 June 1997, the Heads of States of Bangladesh, Egypt, Indonesia, Iran, Malaysia, Nigeria, Pakistan and Turkey came together for an exalted purpose and signed the Istanbul Declaration to establish the D-8 Organization for Economic Cooperation. In light of the noble vision of Prof. Dr. Necmettin Erbakan, our Organization’s founding father, D-8 aimed to promote:

- Peace instead of conflict,
- Dialogue instead of confrontation,
- Cooperation instead of exploitation,
- Justice instead of double-standard,
- Equality instead of discrimination,
- Democracy instead of oppression.

20 Years of Socio-economic Success

Over the last 20 years, D-8 has emerged as one of the world’s promising trade and economic blocs. It has established itself as a unique economic group of eight developing countries comprising over 1 billion population and 16 percent of the world’s population, a combined GDP of over US$2.7 trillion, an export volume of over US$593 billion or four per cent share of the global trade, an intra-organizational trade of over US$100 billion and an annual GDP growth rate of six per cent. In line with this impressive economic performance, per capita GDP of the countries rose exponentially and more than doubled. From US$ 2,207 in 1997, average per capita GDP of D-8 rose to US$6,645 dollars in 2016. This has been a strong indicator of the overall improvement in the living standards of the peoples of the Member States. With its young and dynamic population, robust economic growth, strong trade relations and the will to cooperate in all strategic sectors such as industry, agriculture, tourism, transportation and energy, D-8 is poised to carry its success to the future. In striving to achieve its lofty objectives, the D-8 has successfully held 8 Summits, 16 Council and 37 Commission Meetings and with the participation of hundreds of delegates from its Member States. It has also held several Ministerial, Senior Officials, Task Force, Expert Meetings and Workshops in six priority areas of sectoral cooperation, namely Trade, Agriculture, Industry, Energy, Transportation and Tourism.

As it marks its 20th Anniversary, our Organization is looking forward to consolidating its success with the 9th Summit that is hosted by Turkey.

Legal Instruments

Another area of success of the Organization concerns the development of legal instruments required for the regulation of its activities and cooperation in the areas that it considered critical. The conclusion and entry into force of the Visa Agreement, Customs Agreement, and Preferential Trade Agreement (PTA) have served to facilitate, regulate and promote cooperation in variety of spheres among the Organization’s members. Among these, D-8 attaches great importance to the PTA, as it serves the ultimate goal of promoting and increasing the level of intra-trade among its Member States. D-8 PTA was signed by all the eight Member States at the 5th D-8 Summit on 13 May 2006 in Bali, Indonesia and it officially took effect on 1 July 2016. The D-8 PTA envisages a cooperation scheme that will strongly benefit our Member States, and boost trade volume and economic interactions among them. The PTA also aspires to facilitate intra-trade and increase its volume to US$500 billion as targeted in the D-8 Roadmap.

Future of Our Organization

D-8 is still a young organization that has been in existence for only 20 years. Yet, it has made giant strides towards playing a major role in the global economic arena. However, the challenges ahead are enormous. Given the dynamic nature of international economic relations, we need to redouble our efforts in order to increase the density of traffic and volume of interactions between and among our members with a view to fostering economic cooperation and development. We also need to increase public awareness of the Organization and its activities, first and foremost within the D-8 community and subsequently on a large scale and to expand liaison and cooperation with other economic and regional groups and multilateral institutions. These will enable our Organization to project itself effectively at the international level and play the bigger role that it deserves.

Background

The idea of the establishment of the Developing Eight Organization for Economic Cooperation, which has come to be known as D-8, goes back to the “Cooperation for Development” Conference, held in October 1996 in Istanbul at the initiative of late Professor Dr. Necmettin Erbakan, then Prime Minister of the Republic of Turkey. Subsequent to the conclusion of the Conference in which the eight countries (Bangladesh, Egypt, Indonesia, Iran, Malaysia, Nigeria, Pakistan, and Turkey) had agreed on the creation of the new grouping, preparations were made for its official establishment. The gathering for this purpose, held at the level of Heads of State and Government of the Member Countries, took place on 15 June 1997 in Istanbul – which has been referred to ever since as the First D-8 Summit.

The preparatory process for the First Summit included a number of meetings on political, organizational and technical matters, which agreed, among others, on the structure and functioning of the D-8. Envisioning the new grouping as a “cooperative mechanism” for socio-economic development, it was agreed that the following principles would guide its spirit and activities:

- Peace instead of conflict,
- Dialogue instead of confrontation,
- Cooperation instead of exploitation,
- Justice instead of double-standard,
- Equality instead of discrimination,
- Democracy instead of oppression.

Objectives

The Objectives of D-8 are:

- To promote and enhance joint efforts towards achieving sustainable socio-economic development through effective utilization of economic and social potentials of D-8 countries;
- To promote welfare, alleviate poverty, and to improve quality of life of the people of D-8 countries;
- To further strengthen economic, social, technical and scientific ties within the D-8 community;
- To promote private sector activity, though, inter alia, encouraging cooperation between chambers of commerce and industry, joint investments between private companies and public-private partnership, towards achieving the long-term goal of balanced national development in the D-8 countries;
- To strengthen cooperation with other countries, regional and international organizations, as well as non-governmental organizations, with a view to promoting the concerns and interests of the developing countries;
- To work towards playing an effective role in the global economy commensurate with its collective potential and capacity.

The meeting of Trade Ministers from the eight developing countries agreed that the Preferential Trade agreement was a milestone achievement in the 16 years history of the eight developing (D-8) countries for economic cooperation because of its capacity to boost trade and investment among member countries thereby reducing poverty and enriching our people.

The Ministers of Trade or Commerce, and the Head of Delegations have agreed upon to take the necessary steps towards achieving the objectives and goals of D-8 cooperation as stated in the roadmap to increase intra-trade of D-8 states to at least 15-20 per cent (USD 500 billion) of their global trade by the end of 2018. Delegations from member countries reported and shared their progress regarding the implementation of the D-8 PTA. Later on, they recommended to the Trade Ministers Council that 1 November 2013 would be the new cut-off date for implementation of the first installment of tariff reductions and Member States will submit the revised Offer Lists (transposed to HS Code 2012) to the D-8 Secretariat by 31 July 2013 after receiving the revised Offer Lists, D-8 Secretariat will circulate to the member countries not later than 31 July 2013.

The meeting emphasized that it is very much important to improve linkages and efficient networking between and among D-8 governments, trade promotion agencies and private sectors for sharing best practices, enhancing fairness and promoting intra-D-8 trade and favorable business environment.

On his part, the Secretary-General of the D-8 Organization, Seyed AliMohammed Mousavi made case for more strategic arrangements that will make the process seamless and effective to achieve the desired result in the long run.
On the first day, 4 December 2013, the event commenced with parallel sessions of five Working Groups, on Seed Bank, Fertilizer, Animal Feed, Marine Affairs and Fisheries, and Standards on Trade. The Working Group meetings urged Member States to expedite the implementation of identified projects and activities in each group through solid collaboration between government, private sectors and related agricultural institutions. The Senior Officials Meeting was held subsequently on 5 December 2013. At this meeting, delegates considered the reports of all Working Groups and welcomed the D-8 Programme for Food Security (D-8 PFS) as well as the Fertilizer Investment Fund of the Seed Sector Investment Fund as a framework of cooperation through public-private partnerships in the fields of development of effective food supply chains, feasibility study on nutrition, and food systems transformation. The main event, 4th D-8 Agricultural Ministerial Meeting on Food Security, was held on 6 December 2013. The Heads of Delegations from each Member Country adopted the “Abuja Initiative” as a pragmatic approach to underscore the needs of strengthening and energizing collective efforts in order to achieve self-reliance and self-sufficiency at the D-8 national level in food production. The meeting also welcomed the proposals of Nigeria concerning D-8 Agriculture Research and Development Capacity Building Initiative, establishment of the Seed Sector Investment Fund as well as the Fertilizer Investment Fund and Halal Meat Industry Development. Finally, the Meeting welcomed the offer by the Head of Delegation of the Ministry of Food, Agriculture, and Livestock of Republic of Turkey who stated that in principle, Turkey is willing to host the 5th D-8 Agricultural Ministerial Meeting on Food Security in 2014. In addition to this very important event, D-8 signed a Memorandum of Understanding with African-Asian Rural Development Organization (AARDO) during the courtesy visit to the Vice President of the Federal Republic of Nigeria, at the Presidential Palace. It is expected that the MoU would provide rational strategy to achieve the expansion of D-8 agricultural cooperation as well as sharing lessons learned between both organizations and their experiences, including the human resource development, joint implementation of development projects, sharing of information, knowledge and resources, promotion of agro-trade and networking.

Minister of Agriculture, Food and Livestock of Turkey, D-8 Secretary-General, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Food and Livestock of Turkey, Deputy Minister Agriculture of Nigeria and AARDO Secretary-General were, among others, present at the Ministerial session. Dr. Seyed Alimohammad Moussavi, the D-8 Secretary-General, stated that agriculture was an extremely crucial sector having pervasive impact on the economy and livelihood of the majority of the peoples of the D-8 Member States and therefore, this occasion should be maximally utilized in order for the D-8 Organization to achieve objective outcome that may positively contribute to the life of the people of the region. He also stated that the average contribution of all D-8 Member States’ agricultural sector to the GDP growth was around 20 per cent by the end of 2013. He mentioned that there was no room for complacency though; the Organization should strive to achieve the minimum target of 26 per cent contribution to the GDP by the agricultural sector.

Dr. Moussavi thanked the Government of the Republic of Turkey, the Ministry of Food, Agriculture and Livestock in particular, for the elaborate arrangements made for the meetings. Mr. Mehdi Eker, Minister of Agriculture, Food and Livestock of Turkey, underscored the importance of enlarging agricultural zones and called for joint action on food security. He said that more than 30 percent of the total workforce in the D-8 is linked to the agricultural sector. 4th D-8 Ministerial Meeting on Industry held on 28 January 2015 in Tehran, Iran

Dr. Seyed Ali Mohammad Mousavi, the D-8 Secretary-General, expressed his appreciation to the Islamic Republic of Iran, especially to the Ministry of Industry, Mine and Trade of Iran for the hospitality extended to the delegations as well as the excellent arrangements made to host the meeting.

Dr. Mousavi mentioned that the Ministerial meeting would be more fruitful if the follow-up works are effectively pursued in terms of implementing the decisions taken. He also stressed that the Member States should utilize their existing capacities to initiate feasibility studies and explore the potential to implement feasible projects with a view to concretizing industrial cooperation.

The D-8 Secretary General emphasized that a harmonized action on implementation of projects and commitment towards collective partnership were the prerequisites for success; implementation of projects and close cooperation with government and private sector are vital not only for the industrial cooperation but also for other areas of cooperation.

He stressed that the Organization has developed policies and cooperative framework during the past years since establishment. Now, it is high time that the Organization moved forward to implement the decisions taken in the previous meetings and this meeting in order to realize the policies into tangible actions.

Turkey’s Industry Minister Fikri Işık called on his D-8 counterparts to participate in creating a joint venture car brand. “We need to reflect this cooperation between member states with tangible projects and move it to further levels. As a country, we have started a domestic car project, and I invite member states to take more initiatives to develop our cooperation,” Minister Işık added.

The meeting discussed inter alia, implementation of the Preferential Trade Agreement signed in 2006, tariff reduction by members of the bloc, dispute settlement mechanism and reviewed progress so far made to consolidate D-8 Cooperation on trade front and achieve intra-trade target of US$ 500 billion set by its leadership. The meeting deliberated upon the status of a Preferential Trade Agreement among contracting parties, review provisions of the Rules of Origin and Bangladesh’s proposal to have 30 percent local value-addition criteria for the least developed countries (LDCs) as agreed amongst Member States of the Organization of Islamic Cooperation (OIC).

The Federal Minister for Commerce, Khurram Dastgir Khan chaired the Ministerial session on 17 February 2016. The Ministerial plenary adopted the Islamabad Declaration reaffirming commitment of the members toward consolidation of cooperation through enhancing trade and economic activities and facilitating the same in the region. Dr. Seyed Alimohammad Mousavi, the D-8 Secretary-General, said that collaboration between D-8 governments, agencies, and private sectors in realizing the D-8 intra-trade of US$500 billion by 2018 will reach a new height. He underscored that through beneficial cooperation and flexibility in the course of deliberations, the organization succeeded in reaping the fruits of our endeavors. He highlighted important developments so far recorded and more important steps to be taken in the meeting. He hoped that Islamabad Declaration of D-8 Trade Ministers will not only add momentum to the trade cooperation, it will also set forth strategic action plan with a time frame for achievement of our short-, medium- and long-run objectives and targets. He added that the most important challenge as well as opportunity ahead of the organization was fulfillment of intra-trade target of US$500 billion which will not only establish a strong network of economic actors but also will contribute to the betterment of life and living conditions of our peoples in the region. For this, he stressed the importance of active and effective collaboration between D-8 governments, agencies, and private sectors. Since its establishment in 1997, the D-8 intra-trade volume has increased steadily, registering a growth of 41.96% from US$20 billion in 1997 to US$120 billion in 2014. The highest level was recorded in 2012, reaching almost US$150 billion. However, the D-8 intra-trade experienced a decline in 2013 and 2014 to US$133 billion and US$122 billion respectively.
The 3-day meeting, hosted by the Ministry of Trade and Industry of the Arab Republic of Egypt, was attended by government and private sector officials as well as international organizations.

The Ministerial Plenary adopted the Cairo Declaration whereby D-8 Ministers and Heads of Delegation reaffirmed their commitment to the cause of D-8 Cooperation and endorsed project ideas on “Promoting Cooperation between Innovation Clusters and Alliances in D-8 Member States”, SMEs capacity building, green SMEs and women empowerment and youth leadership development. It was also agreed that a new Task Force namely, Task Force on “Promoting Cooperation between Innovation Clusters and Alliances” within the broad spectrum of D-8 cooperation.

In his address, Dr. Seyed Ali Mohammad Mousavi, D-8 Secretary-General, said that the meeting of D-8 Industry Ministers is of pivotal importance ahead of the 9th D-8 Summit scheduled for 5th December 2016 in Iran. This meeting would provide an opportunity for the Ministers to prepare their strategy paper for consideration of D-8 leadership. He also noted that despite the success that has been achieved so far, the Organization must not be complacent as there are still many more goals to accomplish. He added that it was important for constant review of the progress and be responsive to the need of our stakeholders.

The Federal Republic of Nigeria accepted to consider hosting the 6th D-8 Ministerial Meeting on Industry in 2017. It should be mentioned that the meeting of D-8 Industry Ministers has been held in Bangladesh, Egypt, Iran (twice) and Turkey.

In the past 20 Years, owing to joint efforts of member countries, D-8 has made appreciable progress, and recorded commendable achievements in reducing widespread poverty, promoting Trade, Food Security, Industry, Transportation, Energy, Tourism and Technology Transfer Cooperation, improving social welfare, providing educational opportunities and increasing personnel exchanges. It should be said that D-8 has made giant strides towards improving the economies of its members. Such efforts have been recognized and praised by the governments and the people of D-8 countries. They have also been recognized and supported by number of countries and organizations in the world.

D-8 has recorded 20 years history. Over the past 20 years, D-8 summit has held 8 sessions. The fact that the summit mechanism has been active shows that the organization has strong vitality. Our arrangement of post other multilateral organizations means that D-8 has attracted widespread international attention. Although the progress of other D-8 priorities and objectives for each sector are defined in the Istanbul Plan of Action, the Istanbul Declaration, and “Kuala Lumpur Declaration“, and setting a number of targets to be achieved in the various areas of regional cooperation. Intra-regional trade refers to trade which focuses on D-8 economic exchange between Member States. Trade and Investment sectors remain the vital priorities for multilateral cooperation. The strategy adopted by the members of D-8 is to gradually eliminate trade barriers and facilitate greater internal and international market access, transportation of goods, simplification and harmonization of the national customs procedures, extension of existing preferential tariff measures, adopt common approaches in regional and international agencies/organizations, particularly the World Trade Organization (WTO), ASEAN, European Union and SAARC for progress of regional and global trade (D-8 Decade of Progress 1997-2017). In achieving all these objectives, the members of D-8 have taken various measures in the Trade sector including D-8 preferential trade arrangement in 2006, signed a Framework Agreement on D-8 Cooperation (D-8PTA) in May 2006, member states of organization have launched D-8 preferential trade arrangement. The main objective of the agreement was to enlarge trade cooperation among member states through mutual exchange of concessions. The arrangement provides for a 10 percent import tariff reduction on listed goods. Convening in Bali, Indonesia 2006, D-8 ministers of trade signed a Framework Agreement on D-8 Cooperation (D-8 PTA), which established a basis for the expansion of intra-trade. The Framework Agreement envisaged the eventual adoption of an accord providing for the gradual removal of regional trade obstacles like customs duties, and tariff among the member states.

In the light of the foregoing, one might compare to the value of imports. The table also reflects that the value of exports is lower specifically in 2007, 2008 and 2010 as compare to the value of imports. In the light of the foregoing, one might look at highlights in the development and progress of D-8 in recent years.

The Association would facilitate large-scale governmental and private companies, institutions, investment banks and research institutions of the Member States involved in the trade of chemical fertilizers (nitrogen, phosphate and potash) and bioorganic fertilizers business.

d) D-8 Technology Transfer & Exchange Network (D-8 TTEN)

In the age of globalization, the proper foundation of a technology transfer and exchange network is essential. The D-8 Organization established D-8 technology transfer and exchange network (D-8 TTEN, www.d8tten.org) in October 2013 in Iran. The website would serve as a web-based market space for technology suppliers and seekers to exchange their technology offers and requests and technology suppliers and seekers from the D-8 countries.

e) D-8 Industrial Cooperation Network (D8coop)

D-8 industrial web portal (www.d8coop.com) was proposed by Ministry of Science, Industry and Technology of Turkey at D-8 4th Ministerial Meeting on Industry in 2015 in Tehran and launched at D-8 5th Ministerial Meeting on Industry in May 2016 in Cairo.

The scope of our D-8 industrial cooperation is diverse in as many as 14 (fourteen) task forces. Hence, the amount of effort and time that we have to put into in managing the initiatives agreed in this area is enormous. It is encouraging to note that this web portal would help us follow the progress in all areas of industrial cooperation in a more structured manner. The web portal is an industrial inventory for D-8 countries that will serve as the “Google of Industry”. It is a unique mine of information that introduces the manufacturing capabilities and products of the member countries to the investors on internet and also develops the industrial cooperation. In other words, through d8coop.com, companies will be able to communicate with each other from their place. Also, they could advertise their products on the portal.

In response to the ongoing food price volatility, particularly the price and availability of food for livestock, the D-8 Organization established the D-8 Animal Feed Information Center (D-8 AFIC, www.d8-afic.org), in October 2012 in Indonesia.
